

HAGS APPOINT OMNITECH PLAYGROUNDS AS A NEW AUSTRALIAN DISTRIBUTOR.

HAGS, the world leading provider of outdoor play and recreational equipment, are delighted to announce Omnitech Playgrounds as a distributor for HAGS in Australia.

Jan Johansson, MD at HAGS head office in Aneby, Sweden, says:

“Australia is an important market for HAGS. HAGS has worked very closely with Fred Haig and his team at Omnitech Playgrounds, who stepped in when our previous distributor, Omnitech Services Pty, went into administration. All involved have done an outstanding job during 2011 to ensure that HAGS customers who had ordered projects from Omnitech Services Pty had them delivered and installed.

HAGS has been present in Australia for many years and are recognised for their high quality and flexible range.

This agreement with Omnitech Playgrounds reflects the company’s strategy to develop and maintain a strong international presence.”

An experienced partner.

Omnitech Playgrounds was established by Fred Haig and his Classic Metal Works Group in April 2011, having purchased the assets of Omnitech Services Pty.

Classic Metal Works have been involved in the playground industry for more than 20 years. They were also the manufacturer and supplier of Omnitech Services Pty equipment for the past 15 years.

Fred Haig, MD at Omnitech Playgrounds says:

“We are happy to represent HAGS. I believe our previous experience of supplying playground, leisure and recreational products will help us to further strengthen HAGS presence on the Australian market for the benefit of our customers.”

Customer references:

"I would like to thank the team at Omnitech Playgrounds for the installation at the Coburg Lake Reserve. The installation of the HAGS Uniplay Malix is a stand out piece of playground equipment and is so popular with the children who visit the Reserve. The Omnitech team was very professional in installing such a large piece of equipment and maintained a safe working site in a park that is always busy. Keep up the good work!"

John McCunnie - Moreland City Council

"When Omnitech Services went into administration we were left in a bit of a pickle, as the centre piece intended for the design was the Hags Giant Tower. Luckily the guys that stepped in and bought Omnitech settled any fears we had. They ensured we still got the Hags tower, honoring the original quote and completing the project on time and to our satisfaction. We were very pleased with the results".
